Be Part of the Legacy

Since 1903, Scripps Institution of Oceanography at UC San Diego has built a legacy of exploration and discovery, leading efforts to fully investigate the oceans, solid earth, and atmosphere. Scripps scientists have sailed to tropical islands and ventured under polar ice, observing environments and their inhabitants, collecting specimens and samples, and recording voluminous data for laboratory analysis.

Today, Scripps is an international leader in seeking scientific understanding of the globe, an effort that connects scientists with leaders in industry and policy to address concerns that impact our world.

Join us in protecting our planet for future generations.

E.W. SCRIPPS ASSOCIATES

E.W. Scripps Associates (EWSA) is a premier group of annual donors who make a difference in the global research conducted by Scripps Oceanography scientists. Members learn about ocean, earth, and climate science firsthand from Scripps scientists and students at “behind-the-scenes” events and are given special access to Birch Aquarium at Scripps.

WHY SUPPORT SCRIPPS?

Scripps scientists are solving the rapidly escalating environmental challenges of the 21st century

Scripps researchers have made many important discoveries that have saved lives and billions of dollars. Scripps continues to be the foremost environmental research institution, addressing issues of global significance such as:

- Climate change
- Earthquakes and other natural disasters
- Drug-resistant diseases
- Water shortages
- Saving marine life
- Energy alternatives
- Air pollution
- Ocean acidification

Edward Willis Scripps (1854-1926) was a pioneering newspaper publisher and a cofounder of Scripps Oceanography in 1903. In 1907, he selected an undeveloped parcel of land to be the permanent home of the institution, which was purchased for $1,000. The Scripps campus still occupies the land, and E.W. Scripps Associates dues are set at $1,000 annually as a tribute to this important milestone in Scripps history.
